Re: “Rumsfeld’s Mystery Contingency Operation CACI Gets Bigger”(www.dissidentvoice.org. May 9, 2005)

Dear Mr. Stanton:

This firm represents CACI International Inc and its subsidiaries (“CACI”). This letter is in response to your article published in the May 9, 2005 edition of www.dissidentvoice.org. In your article, you assert that:

- (1) the bulk of approximately $100,000,000 in contract awards has gone to “a classified domestic contractor”;
- (2) the “classified domestic contractor” is the former AMS Defense and Intelligence Group acquired by CACI;
- (3) that there have been at least 17 modifications to this contract, which will purportedly run to at least September 2006; and
- (4) that this contract and countless others are for, you posit: “Domestic operations? Interrogation and rendering? Homeland security? Intelligence gathering and assassination? It’s all speculation since only Rumsfeld, Guarino and CACI’s Jack London know for sure.”

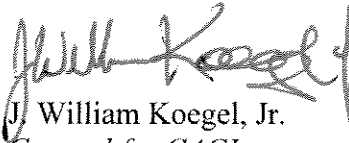

Your accusation that CACI has engaged in “assassination” is maliciously false and constitutes unadulterated libel. The only “assassination” extant here is your character assassination of CACI.

No CACI entity (including the former AMS Group purchased by CACI) is located or was ever located at the address mentioned in your article. No CACI entity (including the AMS Group purchased by CACI) is the “classified domestic contractor” referenced in your article. Quite simply, your attempt to connect the dots wrongly led you to identify CACI in your article. You then compounded that error with the suggestion that CACI, through its personnel, has engaged in “assassination.” That statement is not only false, it is maliciously so. Suffice it to say, that allegation casts aspersion on CACI’s character, prestige and standing within its field of business and constitutes defamation per se. We demand that you retract and correct the multiple false statements immediately, and issue a news release with appropriate apology. If you are unwilling to retract and correct the false statements, CACI will initiate a lawsuit against you.

Sincerely,

J. William Koegel, Jr.
